

Ben Osborne's "Jurassic Journey"

What is it?

JURASSIC JOURNEY is Ben Osborne's story of the Dorset and East Devon World Heritage Site, the Jurassic Coast, inspired by its geology, wildlife, culture, its people and its landscapes.

The show is an exciting fusion of photography, digital imagery, music, poetry and sculpture created by four artists working on the coast over a period of two years.

The Show.

Our journey starts with rocks. They are important, fascinating, approachable and they underpin everything else which forms the character of the coast. However, we then travel from geological "Deep Time" through the millennia to the present day and explore not only the natural character and landscape of the coast but our relationship with it. We look at how the earth's natural processes have shaped the coast (and continue to do so); how wildlife has invaded the coast from land and sea; how centuries of human activity have layered the landscape with history; and we investigate how the coast now provides us with varied opportunities for work, recreation and relaxation.

The show is a celebration of the Jurassic Coast which Ben Osborne brings to life with commentary, images, music, soundscapes and humour to create an entertaining evening for anyone interested in what happens when four artists takes a close (and occasionally sideways) look at one of Britain's best known and most beautiful natural World Heritage Sites.

Based around state-of-the-art high-definition projections on a 12' wide screen accompanied by sound and music on a high quality PA system this show is an audio-visual treat for any audience.
